DR VANESSA OGDEN
CEO Mulberry Schools Trust

Vanessa Ogden is the founding CEO of the Mulberry Schools Trust, a Multi Academy Trust (MAT) in London, UK. The Trust is committed to raising standards in challenging contexts. Prior to the role of CEO, Vanessa was Headteacher of Mulberry School for Girls for 17 years.

Vanessa is a designated National Leader in Education (NLE) and has undertaken a range of school - to - school support over the past decade. She is an Honorary Senior Lecturer at the UCL, Institute of Education and she has a doctorate specialising in education policy and school improvement.

Vanessa has a long-standing commitment to inner city education and the voice of women. In 2015, she led the visit to Mulberry of the former First Lady, Michelle Obama, to launch her Let Girls Learn campaign.

LIZ ROBINSON
CEO Big Education

Liz is a school and system leader, working to 'change the story' about how education is designed and delivered in England. As a head teacher for 13 years, Liz used values as a key driver to redefine the purpose of the school and radically reshape the teaching approaches.

Since September 2018, Liz has worked as co-founder and CEO of Big Education, a school trust formed to focus on innovation within primary and secondary schooling. The focus is on 'head, heart and hand' - an expansive educational experience, based on innovative curriculum design, developing a repertoire of pedagogies.

Liz believes that it is critical for leaders to be asking bigger questions about what school can or should be about and finding new ways of working.
